VOL 33

MARION, CRITTENDEN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, March 9 1911

NUMBER 37

Brilliant and Merited Enlogium on Congressman James.

On Washington's birthday, Feb. 22nd, 1911, at Louisville while addressing the "Jefferson County Democratic Club," Representative J. Thomas Heflin of Alabama, paid a high tribute to "The Father of His Country" and to some prominent Kentuckians foremost among them as usual being Congressman James of this city.

"The crowning tribute," said Mr. Heflin, "comes from our motherland in a published letter from Glandstone, her great Prime Minister, who after saying in casual conversation that Washington was 'the purest figure in history,' writes deliberately 'that if, among all the pedestals supplied by history for public characters of extraordinary nobility and purity, I saw one higher than all the rest, and if I were required at a moment's notice to name the fittest occupant for it, I think my choice, at any time during the last forty-five years, would have lighted, and it would now light, upon Washington.'"

In the course of his address the speaker made complimentary mention of Representatives in Congress from Kentucky, mentioning by name Congressman Swagar, Sherley, Owsley, Stanley and Ollie M. James.

"John G. Carlisle possessed a powerful analytical mind and was an eloquent and able debater," said he. "Kentucky has produced a worthy successor to him in all those splendid powers in the person of your Representative in Congress, Swagar Sherley. Every Democrat you are sending to Congress is a man of integrity and ability. Owsley Stanley has the mind of the poet, the philosopher and the sage, and he is witty and eloquent to a marked degree."

"There is another Kentuckian whose grasp of governmental problems and whose superb power to grasp them is without equal in public life today. He has the intuition of Bibb, the logic of Carlisle, the patriotism of Beck and the eloquence of Clay. Every throb of his big heart beats loyal to the masses. No power of man or devils can intimidate him and no amount of gold can buy him. He is the ablest and most fearless champion of popular rights in America today. He is the idol of the Democracy in the House of Representatives and the most powerful debater in Congress. On this day, when we honor the birth-time of one who loved and served his country, I lay this tribute upon the brow of Ollie M. James of Kentucky."

Mr. J. F. Casner, of the Shady Grove country, was in town Saturday. — Providence Enterprise.

Crider Reappointed.

Below we publish a news telegram from Washington which will be pleasing news to Marion people, whom Mr. Crider and his able corps of assistants have served so acceptably.

Washington, D. C. Feb. 2, 1911. The President appointed Geo. Crider postmaster at Marion as a substitute to F. M. Fisher for turning down J. C. Speight for District Attorney at Louisville. Crider was bitterly opposed by former Senator Deboe, but the Postmaster General insisted upon Crider.

Selling Fences To Pencil Factory

Somerset, Ky., March 3.—(Special)—The pencil factory at Burnside has opened up, and cedar from all sections of the State is being shipped to Burnside. Gover Bros., of this county, sold the fence from their farm yesterday for $2500. The special kind of cedar that it takes to make the pencils, is hard to find and the price is very high. Several farmers in the county have sold their fence for good prices.

Discover Cascite Mine.

Somerset, Ky., March 3.—A mine of cascite has been found near the city limits and the analysis shows it 98 per cent pure. The mine is on farm of John Cox. Mr. Cox is very much excited over the find and he will have an expect come here and go over the property with a view of organizing a stock company to mine the product. There is also a good vein of coal on the property.

Will Kelly's Success,

From The Woodford Sun

We Clip The Following

Berryman, Kelley & Co., have purchased the Brown-Proctoria Pharmacy, a high class drug store in the hotel building by that name at Winchester, and Dr. Sydney Kelly left Monday morning to take charge of it. Dr. Kelly is the right man for the place. He has had wide experience, covering a period of twenty years, nearly half of that time being spent here. He is not only a No. 1 pharmacist, but he has a diploma from two schools of medicine, is a chemist and aside from his ability, has a genial manner that makes him very popular with customers. Dr. Kelly is very enthusiastic over the new venture and says they have one of the prettiest stores in the town. The furnishings are very handsome. Two capable men will assist him. Dr. Kelly's host of friends deeply regret his leaving Versailles. It is a loss to social as well as business circles.

Berryman, Kelley & Co., are certainly "warm stuff" when it comes to hustling.

Ed Franks Denies.

Owensboro, Ky., March 3.—In the suit filed in the United States Court at Cleveland today, for the purpose of dissolving an alleged incandescent lamp trust, the Kentucky Electrical Company, of Owensboro, is named as being a member of this combine. E. T. Franks one of the leading Republicans of Kentucky and a receptive candidate for the gubernatorial nomination is president of the Kentucky Electrical Company. Mr. Franks is indignant that his company should be accused of being a part of a "trust" and issued a statement to-night to the effect that his company was not affiliated with the lamp combine at Cleveland.

Revival at Lafayette.

A revival will begin at the Lafayette Methodist church tomorrow, with Evangelist Pat Davis assisting the pastor, Rev. B. L. Yates. The church has undergone extensive repairs and improvements recently and everything is in fine shape for the meeting, which is expected to be a largely attended one throughout.

Octogenarian Trvels Alone.

Mrs. Mary Jenkins of Eddyville, Kentucky, who has been the guest of her step-son S. M. Jenkins, since the holidays, left Thursday afternoon for her home. Mrs. Jenkins entered her eightieth year Christmas day, but notwithstanding her age is as well preserved as many women who are a quarter of a century her juniors.

Members of the family were willing to accompany her on her journey but she said it was unnecessary and that she could travel alone.

In many respects she is a most remarkable woman and is one of the only remaining links connecting today with the Mexican and Civil war days of slaves and stage coaches. She is a sister-in-law of that Chittenden Lyon for whom Lyon county was named and who entertained in his home in Eddyville one hundred ago Aaron Burr, that dreamer of a great western empire of which he wished to be the ruler. She herself entertained, in the sixties, over forty years ago, in her own home, John Robinson, the now million-are showman and his young wife, when he was traveling overland, long before the day of rail-roads in this section. She has a most wonderful memory, reciting incidents of the Mexican war period over 65 years ago as if they occurred yesterday. She has an album in which are inscribed the autographs and poems of many of the beaus of the forties, the writing of which is wonderfully well preserved altho, written almost seventy years ago and those who inscribed the verses have with out exception long since ceased to be actors on the worlds stage, all having crossed the dark river, some fifty years ago. Her reminiscences of the "war between the states" are rich and realistic. Her experiences in those stirring times would have furnished a foundation for as good a romance as was ever written. She has one memento which is not very pleasant to think of in the shape of a draft for $3,000, drawn by her husband's commission merchant in Memphis, Tennessee, soon after the war, on Watts Givens and Co., the cotton brokers and bankers who failed before the

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Susan Belle Asher was born 1856. Her maiden name was Boswell. She was married to S. L. Asher in 1880. She professed faith in Christ in 1879, and lived a quiet consistent christian up to the time of her death, Feb., 25 1911. She was buried at Old Pleasant Hill Cemetery, Caldwell County. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. B. McNeely—From the text 1 Cor. 17 to 51. Behold I show you a mystery, we shall not sleep but we shall all be changed. She leaves a husband six children and a number of brothers and sisters to mourn her death.

To the bereaved, we point you to the one who said I will wipe all tears away.

Hodge McNeely.

W. T. McConnell went to market Monday. He will visit all the good places.

Miss Clara Crawford of Tolu, attended Sarah Bernhardt's production of "Camille" at Evansville last week.

Hon. Albert Butler of Livingston county, was here Monday, Mrs. Susan Glenn, his wives mother accompanied him home to spend a week or so.

Mrs. Sam Gugenheim and little son of Marion, arrived here Monday to visit relatives several days. Her sister, Miss Rebecca Williams, who has been there several weeks, returned with her. — Providence Enterprise.

Mr. George McManama, the well known traveling man, who is also the owner of the stock farm near Calhoun, had his fine stallion, Kingdon, here on exhibition several days last week. He was trying to effect a sale of the horse, but failed to find a purchaser. — Providence Enterprise.

draft was presented for payment and on which not a penny was ever collected. She remembers vividly the day the U. S. Gunboats bombarded Eddyville with cannonball and shell when all the women, children, and negroes, the men were in the Southern army, took refuge beyond the range of hills in front of which that town nestles so beautifully on the Cumberland. She has the distinction of having had a brother-in-law, Chittenden Lyon conspicuous in the war of 1812, a husband who fought on the U. S. ship, Legare, in the Mexican war in 1846, a nephew, Capt. Frank Gracy of Clarksville Tennessee, who organized "Cobbs Battery" and fought with distinction in the war of 1862 and a grand nephew, Lieutenant Gracy Childers of Clarksville, who led his company to the Philippine Islands in the war with Spain. She therefore has members of her family in every war of the past century.

She is also thankful that she has an old colored woman, still ready to answer her call, who belonged to the family before the war. She is a member of the Methodist church and rarely misses a church or prayer meeting service. Her example in that respect being one worthy of emulation by the younger generations. She has only one child living, that being E. S. Wood who owns a rice plantation in southern Louisiana.

To The Sunday Schools.

As the Sunday Schools of the rural districts generally close at the expiration of the third quarter, October 1st, 1910 and begin again at the first of Second quarter, April 1st, 1911. The superintendents who served last year have not fully discharged their duty until they organize the schools like they were before.

A great work is expected this year, so let all schools be at once organized so we can be up and doing.

V. L. Stone, Cor' Sec'y.

Little Miss Lois Durham a

Beauty and a Prodigy.

A very pleasing feature of the missionary evening spent with Mrs. H. B. Wheeler at Nebo, the 22nd of February was the recital of little four year old Lois Durham.

Several songs and two lengthy poems were well rendered by the little tot. Her clear enunciation and pleasing delivery held her listeners spell-bound.

Besides being a beautiful child little Lois has most assuredly imbibed her mother's grace and talent with which she is so lavishly endowed, and certainly deserves the worthy epithet of Prodigy. — Madisonville Hustler.

OTTUMWA WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ottumwa, Iowa.—"For years I was almost a constant sufferer from female trouble in all its dreadful forms: shooting pains all over my body, sick headache, spinal weakness, dizziness, depression, and everything that was horrible. I tried many doctors in different parts of the United States, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than all the doctors. I feel it my duty to tell you these facts. My heart is full of gratitude to you for my cure."—Mrs. HARRIET E. WAMPLER, 624 S. Ransom Street, Ottumwa, Iowa.

Consider This Advice. No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. This famous medicine, made only from roots and herbs, has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, confidential, and always helpful.

Dr. J. V. Hayden of Salem In $500,000 Oil Co.

Nashville, Tenn., March 1.—(Special.)—After many years of speculation the fact is soon to be determined whether or not gas and oil are to be found in Tipton county, Tennessee, in paying quantities. J. N. Harris, of Covington, has deeded to the Great Southern Oil and Mining Company 735 acres of land near Quitto and transferred the mineral, oil, and gas rights to 525 acres adjoining the first tract. It is said the consideration paid was about $30,000.

George C. Sandifer, of Louisville, secretary-treasurer of the company; C. M. Sandifer, of Georgetown, Ky., a director, and D. R. Castleman, of Louisville, attorney for the corporation, have been in Covington perfecting the details relating to the transfer of the property to the company. The company is receiving bids from oil and gas well drillers for drilling wells.

It is expected that contracts for digging a well will be closed in the near future, and the officials of the company state that the development of the property will be pushed rapidly. For years the citizens of that part of Tipton county have believed that oil and gas and coal lay hidden in the earth. Coal or lignite has been gathered there for years from outcroppings which readily burned, and there are many evidences of oil.

George C. Sandifer and George G. Fetter are in Memphis to-day in the interest of the Great Southern Oil and Mining Company, which is capitalized at $500,000, and is said to have many prominent men of Louisville and Memphis among the stockholders. N. O. Garr, of this city, one of the stockholders, when called over the telephone confirmed the fact that the two tracts had been purchased as stated in the wire from Nashville. Mr. Garr, who has been under a scarlet fever quarantine at his home, does not know all the facts in connection with this deal, but stated that the company had been promoted here by George C. Sandifer and Dr. J. V. Hayden, of Salem, Ky. Mr. Garr stated that he was confident that contracts for driving wells will be closed in a few days that he believed the company's holdings in Tipton county would prove to be very valuable.

Resolutions of Respect.

On Feb. 16th, 1911, death sounded the alarm at the door of Mexico Local No. 150, of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America and called our worthy Sister, Nannie E. Rogers.

This Local wishes to express its appreciation and love for this humble sister on account of her many visitors and faithfulness to the principles of the noble Order of which she was a worthy member. She was to us as a tree whose roots draw their life from the soil of the golden rule whose branches bring forth the fruits of the truth, sobriety and sisterly love. Though old she enrolled herself in the great struggle for the rights of man. She died as the golden sun of life was arching past the glories of dawn and the shadows were still bending toward the west. In the sparkling morning when hope rode on fancy's wing toward ambitious goal when life's morning dream was blending the colors of the rainbow in the unfolding rose of buoyant life. She was lead by the great conductor from her field of toil to join the multitudes of laborers, who have laid their burdens down.

Whereas, it has pleased God in His infinite wisdom to remove from our midst our beloved sister, Nannie E. Rogers.

Resolved: That in the death of our sister, we recognize the hand of a Father, who knows best when to call his children home.

Resolved: That in the death of sister Rogers, our lodge sustains the loss of a worthy member, her husband, relatives and community a faithful friend.

Resolved: That we extend to her husband and family our heartfelt sympathy in their sad bereavement and pray God's blessings to rest upon them who so keenly feel the loss of a loving wife and mother. May they live to emulate her virtues and honor her name.

Resolved: That our charter be draped with mourning and remain for thirty days.

Resolved: That resolutions be spread upon our lodge records, a copy be furnished her husband and family, the same be published in the Crittenden Record-Press.

R. W. PETERSON, OCTAVIE PETERSON, MAGGIE PETERSON, J. F. BRASHER, JOHN TYREE Com.

Sample Helps Frail Women

So many women are dragging out weary lives just because their digestive organs are weak. The result is poor circulation, nervousness and the verge of invalidism. It is often very unnecessary and the woman's own fault.

The first thing to do is to look to the "weakness of your bowels." There the trouble usually lies. All physicians know that a large percentage of women are habitually constipated, and from this result indigestion, pain, weakness, etc., that women constantly complain of. But there is no use taking "female remedies" and things of that kind until you find yourself rapidly getting better and stronger, your bowels will regulate themselves and work at stated times, and then your headaches and dizziness will disappear. Don't take strong cathartics or pills or salts, but just such a mild and pleasant-tasting remedy as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

You can obtain a bottle of your druggist for fifty cents or one dollar, and either size may be enough to permanently cure you. Thousands of women keep it regularly in the house and will no longer be without it, as it cures them and can be used with safety by every member of the family, down to the youngest child, but if you have never used it take the advice of Mrs. Paul S. Cox, 409 Twenty-fifth street, Moline, Ill., and Mrs. Ellen Dunsin, Muncie, Ind., and send to Dr. Caldwell for a free trial bottle, as they did, and learn for yourself what it will do in your own case. That it will cure you, as it did them, there is no doubt.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail.

For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For other request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R. 500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

The most common cause of insomnia is disorders of the stomach. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets correct these disorders and enable you to sleep. For sale by all dealers.

Electric Bitters

Succeed when everything else fails. In nervous prostration and female weakness they are the supreme remedy, as thousands have testified. FOR KIDNEY, LIVER AND STOMACH TROUBLE. It is the best medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter.

Fairview And Rosiclare Items

Fairview Landing, Mar. 1, 1911. The Record-Press Marion, Ky.

The output and shipment of Fluor Spar from the Fairview mines has again broken any previous record. For the months of January and February the shipments of the various grades were 9700 tons.

Mr. Brinton, the assistant superintendent, at present, of the Fairview mines, will take charge of the Rosiclare mine, so far as mining is concerned and Mr. Reed of Marion will likely retire from Rosiclare, the change taking place on Monday, March the sixth.

The receivers of the Fairview Fluor Spar and Lead Company, Messrs. McClenathan of Danville Illinois, and Eysell of St. Louis Missouri, make bi-monthly visits to the property here, generally a day or two before the fortnightly paydays, on the tenth and twenty-fifth of each month.

There are hundreds of fat Mallard ducks offering themselves up to a good shot any morning on the Ohio river, near Carversville Kentucky. Mr. Denny the cashier of the Citizens Bank at that point is reputed to be a good marksman, but the ducks do not seem to mind his blazing away so very much, the same number is generally found, at roll call by the master drake, after Denny has used up all his shells, although some one said that one duck was hurt slightly by getting in contact the gasoline boat from which he did the shooting.

The Rosiclare mill was slated to start up March the first but up to now, Wednesday evening it is evidently observing ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent, in a very quiet way, no wheels seem to be moving.

The output at Rosiclare for the balance of the year will be from 60 to 75 tons daily. Until a strong actual development in depth and increased number of levels are run in that property, the output cannot be materially increased and it is likely to take a year to do this.

The bottom seems to have dropped out of eggs as they are quoted at 10c per dozen and not half an hour old at that. In New York we were given just one measly egg for breakfast, the cost being 45 cents for ten, yet we had plenty of cut feed in the shape of corn flakes and oats, add rye and straw and one new preparation called Judge Pierce's collar button, it was a liquid, and the prohibitionists were very keen for it, said it was a splendid tonic as well as a food and I reckon it is.

Golconda is in the throes of promoting a cement plant, a stones throw from the rail-road depot, the promoters propose to put up $700,000 to Golconda's $100,000 and the latter has been very nearly subscribed. It might prove a good pointer to the Golcondians to have this 7 to 1 visible before turning over their money because sometimes stocks do not sell. $100,000 does not go far in a 2500 barrel, daily proposition.

The Pope County Banker Edward Clark, president, is talking very strongly of erecting a modest skyscraper for banking and office use.

Tom Yandell, the goodlooking cashier of the Marion Bank has been threatening an invasion of Southern Illinois for the last three years and has never reached farther than Salem Kentucky. He stated over the phone yesterday that he would just love to come over, some people can love most anything but if anybody can love certain sections of the Illinois side of the Ohio river they are simply doped. As the old farmer said about the camel "there aint any such animal."

Probably I had better stop this letter before I get into trouble but I would really "love" to know how Press Maxwells hens are making it this season. X.Y.Z.

Mr. James brought to the Imperial what is said to be the biggest dress suit case ever seen in the lobby of that hotel, and the negro bell-boy, who was ordered to take it upstairs, seemed to blanch when his eyes first fell on it. "It takes a pretty good sized case to hold one of Mr. James' dress suits without wrinkling it."

YOUR HOME MERCHANT NEEDS THE FARM TRADE!

A Farmer Tells Of What Happened to One Farmer And What The Mail Order House Did For Him

A COMMON EXAMPLE.

The following was written to Our Horn by a western merchant with the request that we print it, in the hope that merchants reading this paper would cut it out and send it to the editor of their home paper, with the request that he reproduce it for the benefit of the farmers:

"Sometime in January, Mr. R. B. Thomasson, farmer, had the misfortune of having his barn and all its contents, consisting of a hack-wagon, harness, implements, saddles and feed burned. A subscription list was circulated and the farmers gave of feed and other things, and the merchants of the little town responded liberally.

Now, Mr. Thomasson, being a regular patron of a Chicago Catalogue House, wrote a letter to them, relating the above circumstances and asking them for a donation. Their reply was: 'No, we do not help our patrons in that way.'

"Brother farmers! Think of those who helped you to get a start in the world. Was it catalogue houses, or was it your home people.

"If bad luck overtakes you and you need help, would you ask the catalogue houses? If you did you would get nothing except a frown. Now brother farmer, spend your money at home and you will have a chance to get it back again. But if you send it to catalogue houses it is lost to you and your county.

You have made Catalogue Houses rich and they have never done anything for you except sell you goods at a big profit. Now brother farmers, show me good reason for sending your money off, making any corporation rich, and I will pull off the harness and kick myself for being a farmers friend.

"Now brother farmers, let us reason together and see how we do when we want something and haven't the money. We go to our home merchant and get it and he waits on us from one to twenty-four months for the money and sometimes the merchant has to go to the bank to borrow money to keep us in supplies.

"But when we get some cash we send and get a catalogue and then we send our money to the catalogue houses and make them rich. I wonder why we don't make our home merchants rich, they help to build our churches, pay our preachers, and support our schools, but they haven't the money that the catalogue houses have nor they never will, for we are going to send it to a Catalogue House, as long as we can get a dollar."

It's not right and you know it.

THE CLOCK WAS SLOW AND SO WAS HE.

The clock struck nine. I looked at Kate. Whose lips were luscious red. "At a quarter after nine I mean. To steal a kiss," I said. And then she whispered low, With the sweetest smile, "That clock is fifteen minutes slow."

MARRIED FOR SECOND TIME.

By Associated Press. Colorado Springs, Colo., Feb. 8.—Married in 1874, divorced in 1875, each entering the married state again with another and losing their mates by death, Mr. and Mrs. Leander G. Coll, who met here a short time ago, after a separation of 35 years, made a unique matrimonial record by being married for the second time yesterday. Coll is 61 and his wife 55.

A PARTY SCANDAL.

The way the Democratic executive committee is handling the primary election matter is getting to be almost a party scandal. Three meetings have been held and still the candidates who have not already quit the field do not know when the entries will close. At the first meeting the primary was called for May 27, for only a part of the offices and the statement was made that the candidates would not be held up. At the second meeting, the primary was extended to the senatorial race, and the candidates assessed $18,500. At the third but little was done except to increase these assessments 25 per cent and leave the poor candidates in suspense, although it is less than one hundred days until the election. What is the purpose of all this juggling? Is it to force off the track all but a few candidates and re-establish the same sort of machine rule that wrecked the party four years ago? Has the object lesson to the south of us been so soon forgotten? Can not wisdom come from experience? It seems not.—Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

POOR HOTEL SERVICE.

The story is being told of two traveling men who found themselves one evening unable to find sleeping accommodations at the only hotel in the village, and took refuge in the church edifice, utilizing the cushioned pews for a night's rest.

The continued ringing of the church bell in the early morning caused the assembling of the populace, wondering at the commotion. At last two of the bravest entered the church, to be greeted with the remark:

"It takes a h— of a time for you to answer our bell! Send up two cocktails to pew 17 and be quick about it!"

A NEW CROP.

A New Madrid county (Mo.) farmer experimented with 33 acres of sun-flowers last season, and after losing about a third of his crop owing to bad weather, he harvested and shipped out 27,676 pounds of seed, which he sold for $1.103. He says he paid out but $8 for help, hence his crop netted him $80 per acre, less the rent paid.

Missionary Rally.

Dear Editor, It has been my fortune the greater part of my life, to be associated with the best people on earth. So let me tell you about a great Missionary Rally on last Sunday night in the little town of Tolu, Ky., in the Methodist church.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society carried into perfect effect a program, which after a brief comment I will try to give you. I have not language to give in details, even the sum and substance. It was beyond my conception.

The opening song, "The Morning Light is Breaking," Scripture reading by the president Mrs. Mamie Guess; Address by the pastor Bro. Wilson; A Missionary Lamb, by little Opal Clark, a three year old child; Recitation by Elizabeth Wolfe, a three year old child. The rendering of these two pieces were well worth the whole occasion. Song, "The choir sweeps o'er the world; Dialogue, "How the Woman's Foreign Missionary won the young ladies"; Song by choir "Consecration" by four girls; "Sending the Gospel" by nine girls; Reading, "When the deacon talked in church" by Miss Bertie Kirk; song by choir, "We'll girdle the world with salvation"; Recitation, "Speed the Gospel" by Clifton Crawford; Dialogue, "The call to Christian America" by fifteen young ladies; Recitation, "A short sermon giving" by Myrl, Worley, a small boy.

The collection amounted to ten dollars and eight cents. Sister Wilson prayed that the collection would reach ten dollars. She said she always got more than she prayed for—hence the eight cents. Sister Wilson gave us such a fine talk. I would have joined if I had not already become a member.

$40,000.00 to be Spent in Developing Great Coal Fieds.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Feb. 28. —A special from Bristol, Tenn., says: "The Consolidated Coal company, in furtherance of its plans to develop 100,000 acres of valuable coal land in the Elkhorn region of Eastern Kentucky, near the Virginia and Tennessee border, has just had recorded at Whitesburg, Ky., a mortgage of $40,000,000, the largest mortgage ever recorded in that part of Kentucky.

The money realized on the mortgage will be used at once in developing the properties of the company. This includes the construction of 35 miles of railroad, opening of a number of mines, the construction of an extensive coke plant and the building of numerous miners homes and other structures.

THE DOCTOR'S QUESTION.

Much Sickness Due to Bowel Disorders.

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that 98 per cent of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver, and that this condition must be removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.

Reckall Orderlies are a positive, pleasant and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of their great curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction.

Reckall Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quietly, and have a soothing, strengthening, healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, gripe, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea or other annoying effect. They are especially good for children, weak persons or old folks. Two sizes, 25c. and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Reckall Store.

Just Like A Man.

"Oh, hurry up there!" growled the waiting husband.

Len McElroy Buys One Thousand Dollar Animal.

Mr. Len McElroy went to Marion Wednesday and while there bought a fine jack from Pierce & Son, paying them the handsome price of $1,000 for the animal. The jack is 16 1-2 hands high and weighs 1,300 pounds. He has all the points desirable in an animal of this kind.

The farmers of Union county interested in raising mules have been anxious for an exceptionally fine animal for some time and Mr. McElroy is now in a position to give them the services of one of the finest jacks in the state.—Morganfield Sun.

The Return.

He sought the old scenes with eager feet—

The scenes he had known as a boy;

"Oh, for a draft of these fountains sweet,

And a taste of that vanished joy!"

He roamed the fields, he waded the streams,

His schoolboy paths essayed to trace;

The orchard ways recalled his dreams.

The hills were like his mother's face.

O sad, sad hills! O cold, cold hearth!

In sorrow he learned the truth—

One may return to the place of his birth,

He can not go back to his youth.

Granulated Eye Lids

Do not need to be cauterized or scarified by a physician. Sutherland's Eagle Eye Salve is guaranteed to cure them without pain. It is harmless and a sure cure for granulated lids. 25 cent tubes at all dealers.

Walter Blackburn to be Surveyor of Port.

Confirmation of the appointment of Walter Blackburn to the office of surveyor of port and customs of the Paducah harbor was received yesterday afternoon by Mr. Blackburn himself when a friend in Washington telegraphed him of his good fortune. Mr. Blackburn came to Paducah from Marion several months ago after receiving the appointment of clerk of the federal court. He has made many friends in the city. It is customary for the federal court clerk to be the surveyor, although the friends of Dr. Harey F. Williamson made a hard fight to win the office for him. Paducah Sun.

Aviator Drops Weighted Message to President Diaz.

Mexico City, Mex., March 1.—Roland G. Garros, one of Moisant's aviators, made the most notable flight of the meet here when he sent a fifty horse-power monoplane to a registered altitude of 4,000 feet to day. He was in the air thirty-six minutes and circled the historic castle of Chapultepec. President Diaz had been notified in advance that conditions being favorable the birdman would attempt to salute him as he flew over the city. Garros was fifteen hundred feet in the air when he neared the castle, shutting off the motor and glide down close to the roof, where the presidential party was in waiting. He dropped a weighted message as he passed. Great interest in the performance of the aviators is being shown by the Mexican people. Large crowds have been present on each day of the meet.

Her feet were rotten; the frogs came out; she laid down most of the time. I thought she would die, but I used the Liniment as directed and she never lies down in the daytime now."

Death of Mrs. J. L. Rogers.

Mrs. Nancy E. Rogers after a brief illness was called to the rest that remains for the people of God, Feb. 16th, 1911.

She was born Feb. 17th, 1845. At an early age she professed faith in Christ and united with Sulphur Spring Baptist church. Mrs. Rogers was much loved by a large circle of friends, and will be greatly missed by the church and neighborhood, where she so faithfully wrought.

On December 3rd, 1895, she was happily married to J. L. Rogers. To this union five children were born, all of whom survive her, except one. Mrs. Rogers was a devoted mother, a faithful wife, accomodating neighbor, faithful to the poor and sick and consecrated to Him who gave Himself for her, "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord, yea, saith the spirit they rest from their labors and their works do follow them." Though cast down, we are not forsaken. Though afflicted, not alone. Thou didst give, and thou hast taken. Blessed Lord, thy will be done." R. A. L.

Letter From Oklahoma.

Alva, Okla., Feb. 22, 1911.
Mr. S. M. Jenkins,

Marion, Ky.

I hope you will give me space for a few lines in your paper. I suppose there are some people that would be glad to know that the drouth of almost seven months in this part of Oklahoma, has just been broken by a three day's rain and a little snow, the first snow of this winter. Every thing seems discouraging here as this part of Oklahoma is more adapted to wheat and alfalfa, than anything else, and the wheat that was sown in the fall is still lying in the ground not yet sprouted.

I was glad to hear that Mr.

Boston has found oil in Marion I hope it will be a success. We have been listening for something like that to happen. Here in Alva for over twelve months the well is over 3600 feet deep now, and they are still drilling day and night, in hopes of finding something valuable.

A great many people, both men and women, attended the big sale at Mr. Bruce's, twelve miles south of Alva, on Feb. 2nd. They had a long table loaded with every thing good to eat for their personal friends besides seven hundred hand out lunches. They will start to Oregon in the early part of March. I am sending you a clipping of the sale, of which you can please print.

If this don't go to the waste basket, I will write again when they strike oil in the deep well in Alva.
Yours Truly,
J. S. Braswell.

There are people who constantly complain that they are the creatures of circumstances. But then there are other people who are so masterful and wise that they become the creators of circumstances. The difference between the two especially in the way things work out, is equal to that between the poles and the equator.

Elsewhere in this issue is published a report of a corporation spending $40,000,000 to develop coal lands in Eastern Kentucky. Suppose one-twentieth of that amount was spent in this county to develop our untold mineral wealth. We would see old Crittenden blossom out like a rose. We have the minerals but nothing short of deep mining is going to bring them in profitably and nothing short of capital and plenty of it is needed. It will come and at no distant day.

Our roll of honor published elsewhere in these columns, for the short month of February, 1911, contains 190 names and shows the appreciation of this paper by its readers in many states and Canada. These subscriptions and renewals were received without making any misrepresentations or false promises and in most cases came in voluntarily from people who see and read the Crittenden Record-Press each week. Only one of these subscriptions was for less than $1.00 and the others range from $1.00 to $3.50 the largest amount having been sent by G. T. Foster of Lola, Ky. The second largest $3.30 by Geo. Perryman of Nashville, Tenn. The third and fourth largest $3.00 each by Ed Guess and Robt Boyd of Salem, the fifth largest $2.85 by Felix Cox of Salem and the sixth largest $2.75 by Henry Owen of Dycusburg, Ky.

Letter From Illinois.

Dear Mr. Jenkins:—I left home the first of January and been engaged in revival work in this state. A good meeting at Farnia, Ill., we are soon to close at this place. Irvington, six miles below Centralia, on the I. C. railroad between Cairo and Chicago. I am to run over home a few days at the close of this meeting, then I go to Cairo to the First M. E. Church, March 4th; Benton, Ill., March 27th; Pembroke, Ky., April 17th; Memphis, Tenn., May 2nd.

I am assisting my old Kentucky friend W. W. Kemper, whom many of your readers remember well.

I am glad to see your paper so much improved and trust the good work may continue. Wife has sent me a copy or two, lately, and it is like getting good letters from homeland.

Wishing you unlimited success.

Letter From New Mexico.

Portales, N. Mex., Feb. 17, 1911.
Mr. S. M. Jenkins,
Marion, Ky.

Dear Sir:—I will write you again and a longer letter than before if you have room for it in your valuable paper.

The weather has been fine for all kinds of farm work, since I wrote you last, and yesterday it rained all day, and last night it rained, sleeted, snowed, and is still snowing now. (Saturday.) It looks like it might be another good crop season on some of the poor western people.

Some of the people of Marion know all about Portales and surrounding country, but I think I can tell of the new events and happenings of this city. Portales at the last census, numbered about 3000 inhabitants and has a nice school building besides other new buildings that were erected last summer. It now has electric light plant, waterworks, sewerage system and also an irrigation plant that was installed last summer which two 1000 horsepower engines to pump the water from the irrigation wells all over the surrounding country. And now a sugar-beet company is here working for a sugar-beet factory at Portales and nearly all the land necessary for the plant has been subscribed, which is 32,000 acres. And this is like the irrigation was: have been working on it for some time, but it will sure go through, O. K., as all hope for and then Portales will rank with Roswell in irrigation, fruit raising and all kinds of vegetables that can be raised by irrigation.

Improved land in the valley near the city, is selling from $30.00 to $40.00 per acre, while other deeded land is selling very low and relinquishments at all prices from $150.00 to $1600.00 (a quarter section, 160 acres.)

I don't want to make my letter too long, so I had better close for this time, hoping to see letters in the dear old Record-Press from people that we know in Texas and Oklahoma for we enjoy reading them and to know how everything is there.

Respectfully Yours,
E. H. Newcom.

WOOLFORD—STEPHENS

Last Thursday at the popular Clark Hotel, in this city, Miss Effie Woolford, of Crittenden county, and Mr. Jack Stephens, the popular merchant of Salem, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. W. L. Kennedy, of Lola, who performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of friends of the pretty bride and happy groom. They went to Paducah the next morning on the "Ohio" and will return to Salem where they will reside. Livingston Banner.

Miss Woolford has visited here frequently, the guest of Miss Nannie Rochester, and is pleasantly remembered by all of young society folks.

NO MAPS

Since the notice appeared in last weeks Record-Press requesting all persons who have been promised a map by Mr. Calmes, to send their name and address to me, I have received many letters, postal cards and telephone calls in regard to same, all requesting me to send them their maps; in reply to all I wish to say that I have nothing to do with the matter and the article published in last weeks Record-Press was published without my knowledge and without my consent. The facts that led to the notice being published are about this: Mr. S. M. Jenkins came to me as county attorney, and said that Mr. Calmes had received subscriptions for the paper by representing that he would give each subscriber a map; that the people were calling on him for the maps, and that many claimed that they would not have subscribed for the paper, but for the fact that they were promised the maps, and wanted to know if there was no way that Mr. Calmes could be prosecuted I told him that if he would furnish me with a list of names that I would submit the matter to the grand jury, and this is all that I have to do with the matter and all that I know about it, I have no maps and am not expecting any.

Respectfully,
Jno. A. Moore

Referring to above will say that my idea was not to give the names to Mr. Moore as he requested but to let each person who thought he had been defrauded report his or her own name, thus allowing those who do not wish to take the matter before the grand jury to avoid it by refraining from giving him their names. If any wrong has been done in the eyes of the law you may rest assured John Moore will ferret it out. So far as we are concerned, we have nothing to gain and nothing to lose, and are interested only in seeing that our readers get what is due them. We do not know what Mr. Calmes aims to do about the maps, altho we have written him we have had nothing from him since his published statement in this paper in which he said he had contracted for the maps to be sent here as soon as the census was completed.

Appellate Court

Over Rules Itself

About fifteen years ago Dr. McGraw a patent medicine vender was arrested by the town authorities, and imprisoned under a town ordinance which was unconstitutional. He sued the town for false imprisonment, and the court of appeals upheld a $400. judgement which McGraw recovered.
Recently a case went to the court of appeals against the city of Barbourville involving the same question of law, and the McGraw case was relied on to support a judgement. The court of appeals, in deciding that case, over rules the McGraw case and says the McGraw case "is contrary to both the previous and subsequent decisions of the court."

On last Wednesday evening from seven to eleven, the friends of Mrs. J. T. Moore, had the pleasure of attending at her beautiful south side home, a very elaborate Japanese Tea, one of the most delightful entertainments ever given in Fredonia. The house with its gorgeous oriental decorations lighted by numberless Japanese lanterns, the odor of incense permeating the air together with the gay colored kimonoes of the guests created so realistic a bit of the following kingdom, that one had the impression of participating in a veritable chrysanthemum festival.

This flower in evidence every where among the decorations and worn by each guests, entering from the east side the guests were met by Miss Nell Guess of Crider, Ky., in a beautiful Japanese costume and shown to the cloak room, where they were received by Miss Agnes Maxwell and presented with a fan and chrysanthemum for the hair thence to the reception hall, where Miss Davis presided over the register table on a large fan shaped register tied with long streamers of red satin ribbon, the names were inscribed.

Passing through a broad curtained colonial opening separating the reception hall and drawing room the guests were received by their genial hostess and presented to the line, of kneeling ladies forming on the right of the entrance and composed of out of town visitors, then shown to the tea room, where they were met by Mrs. John Lowery, assisted by Misses Virginia Wyatt and Sarah Davis served tea, dainty Japanese wafers and pimento sandwiches. The tea table in the center of the room was spread with an exquisite lace entre on which stood a bronze vase filled with carnations, overhead was suspended a huge umbrella from which hung many small lanterns. Around the central arrangement suspended from the ceiling by red ribbon was a quadruple of small umbrellas under which later in the evening the second course of refreshments was to be served. After being served with this course each lady was conducted to the contest room and seated on a cushion in true Japanese fashion to await the remainder of the guests, after all had assembled the hostess announced the opening of the contest.

First was a guessing contest. Each in turn studied the many sketches pinned to the wall in the different rooms, and the written answers were turned in to the judges, Honorables H. Edward Rice, H. C. Rice and Dr. J. N. Todd, who after checking up the papers awarded the first prize, a salad bowl in Japanese ware, to Mrs. W. B. Moore of Crider, Ky., the booby prize to Mrs. R. H. Holt of Clay, Ky.

The next feature was a spirited auction of carefully wrapped parcels and cried by the Hon. H. C. Rice, each lady carrying a purse made of gay Japanese cloth and filled with beans to be used as cash, this was very amusing to all as the lucky purchasers on opening the packages found they too had been sold, for they contained articles very different from what they supposed. After the sale the guests were invited to the tea room and seated on cushions, under the quadruple of small umbrellas and were served with Angel Food and Brick Cream in colors to harmonize with the general scheme of decoration with a small Japanese umbrella stuck in each brick. Then followed the candle blowing contest in the drawing room which afforded much amusement especially, to the board of judges one of whom had to try his lung power, much to his chagrin for he was not among the winners, for the prize was awarded to Miss Cora Buckner, being a set of wind chimes.

As the hour had come for departure the hostess was unable to start other contests, she had prepared for the occasion. From first to last it was a most delightful evening and the extravagant expressions of appreciation from the guests as they paid good bye to the chairman hostess were most hearty and sincere.

Those present were:—Mesdames Jas. T. Stiman, R. H. Holt, C. E. Hearin, S. N. McGill, Jack Vaughn, Beryl Blackwell, Clay, Ky., C. A. Wilson, W. B. Davis, Dr. Moore, Miss Nell Guess, Crider, Ky., J. A. Akin, Princeton, Ky., C. H. Brockmeyer, J. N. Todd, M. C. Dulaney, John Lowery, J. L. Wyatt, H. C. Rice, Robt. Jackson, J. W. Hughes, Gus Bently, Kelly, Landes, D. M. Maxwell, Edward Rice, J. N. Andre, James Lowery, Charley McElroy, Misses Helen and Sarah Davis, Mary and Agnes Maxwell, Virginia Wyatt, Imogene Wigginton, Isabelle Howerton, Edna Cole and Cora Buckner.

VELVET SHOES HIT TANNERS.

Efforts Are Being Made to Bring Leather Footwear Into Style Again.

Velvet's vogue is giving the leather men worry. Tanners are trying to bring leather back into favor for shoe purposes, to increase the output and give employment to workmen. It is all the same to the shoe manufacturers whether they make shoes of leather or velvet, but it is not all the same to the tanners. While the manufacturers are working overtime to turn out the velvet shoes, the tanners are restricting their output for the very good reason that little leather is wanted for women's shoes. It is estimated that 30 per cent of the footwear sold from New England centers is velvet. In some factories the velvet shoe output is 80 per cent. The retail price, of the present season's output would be $3,000,000.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

GOOD WORK

Done Daily in Marion, Many Citizens Tell of It.

Nearly every reader has heard of Doan's Kidney Pills. Their good work in Marion still continues, and our citizens are constantly adding endorsement by public testimony. No better proof of merit can be had than the experience of friends and neighbors.

Read this case: J. O. Tabor, Marion, Ky., says: "I was afflicted with kidney trouble for about six years. The pains in my back were severe at times and when I was stooping or lifting, sharp twinges passed through my loins. My back always ached more intensely at night and in the morning I felt very lame. I tired easily, was languid and nervous and had headaches. The kidney secretions also passed too frequently and caused me annoyance. I took the contents of one and a half boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Haynes & Taylor's drug store and they rid me of every symptom of my trouble. I am now in good health."

OBITUARY.

D. G. Bettis, of College Park, Ga., formerly of Marion, Ky., was born May 11th, 1864, and departed this life Feb. 11th, 1911.

While it is so heart rendering, yet we will try to relate a few incidents concerning his life and also of his tragic death. He was born East Tennessee but reared in Kentucky which he loved more dearly I believe than he loved his own life. He moved to College Park, Ga., in 1903 and was very successful in business affairs. He was also elected to the board of councilmen and was later elected and served the little city of College Park as Mayor for a term of two years, but he was never satisfied, his whole desire was to go back to Kentucky but his family was unwilling and so he didn't go—though he was more successful in Georgia, yet he preferred the quietness and sweet peace of home rather than the accumulation of wealth in a land where he could never be satisfied. Those who have known him best will remember, that although he tried to be jovial and light hearted, yet he incessantly wore a melancholy expression and at times seemed very sad, and as years rolled on and troubles accumulated, those symptoms grew and for the last few months those to whom he was so dear, greatly feared for his mind, and at last the sad end came so suddenly and in such an unexpected way when his troubles became so great and his mind so reverently unbalanced he took his own life by firing three shots from his body near the heart.

It is so hard to give him up, but if life was so miserable to him we feel it would be wrong to wish him back for we feel assured God will not hold him accountable for a crime he could not realize. He looked so sweet and quiet lying there among the beautiful flowers, sent as tokens of love and esteem by his many friends.

Oh, if we could have borne his burdens or shared his sorrows how gladly we would have done so, but he tried to bear them himself and failed.

He is survived by his wife and children, two brothers and three sisters, who will greatly mourn his loss. His children are: Mrs. Roena Bettis Waltz, of Ledford, Ill., by his first wife; Miss Hattie Eustice, Mrs. Mayne Bettis Collins, of Atlanta, Ga., and Roney F. ## CHAPTER IV.

THE NEW WEST AND THE OLD.

THE knowledge that she must spend another night in the isolated Lee Virginia to achieve measures of reform. She hurried from one needed reform to another. She drew others into the vortex.

She organized the giggling waiters into a warring party and advanced upon the flies. By hissing and shouting and the flutter of newspapers they drove the enemy before them, and a carpenter was called in to mend screen doors and windows, thus preventing their return. New shades were hung to darken the room and new tablecloths purchased to replace the old ones, and the whole place had such a gleaming as it had not known before in five years.

In this work the time passed swiftly, and when Redfield and Cavanagh came again to lunch they exclaimed in astonishment, as, indeed, every one did. "How's this?" queried Cavanagh humorously. "Has the place changed hands?"

"Lize was but grimly responsive. "Seems like it has."

"I hope the price has not gone up."

"Not yet."

Redfield asked, "Who's responsible for this—your new daughter?"

"You've hit it. She's started right in to polish us all up to city standards. She can run the whole place out if she's a mind to—even if I go broke for it. The work she got out of them girls is a wonder."

Lee Virginia came in flushed and self-conscious, but far lighter of spirit than at breakfast, and stood beside the table while the waitress laid the dishes before her guests with elaborate assumption of grace and design. Hitherto she had bumped them down with a slash of slangy comment. The change was quite as wonderful as the absence of the flies.

"Do we owe these happy reforms to you?" asked Cavanagh, admiring Virginia's neat dress and glowing cheeks. "Partly," she answered. "I was desperate. I had to do something, so I took to ordering people around."

"I understand," he said. "Won't you sit at our table again?"

"Please do," said Redfield. "I want to talk with you."

She sat a little hesitatingly. "You've studied domestic science at school, and I've never had a chance to apply it before."

"Here's your opportunity," Redfield assured her. "My respect for the science of domesticity is growing. I marvel to think what another week will bring forth. I think I'll have to come down again just to observe the improvement in the place."

"It can't last," Lize interjected. "She'll catch the western habits. She'll eat, sleep as we all do."

"No, she won't," declared Ross, with intent to encourage her. "If you give her a free hand I predict she'll make your place the wonder and boast of the county side."

"When do you go back to the mountains?" Lee Virginia asked a little later.

"Immediately after my luncheon," he replied.

She experienced a pang of regret and could not help showing it a little. "Your talk helped me," she said. "I've decided to stay and be of use to my mother."

Redfield overheard this and turned to her.

"I want Mrs. Redfield to know you. I'm sure her advice will be helpful. I hope you'll come up and see us if you decide to settle in Sulphur or if you don't."

"I should like to do so," she said, touched by the tone as well as by the words of his invitation.

"Redfield's house is one of the few completely civilized homes in the state," put in Cavanagh. "When I get so weary of cuss words and peaching and graft that I can't live without killing some one I go down to Elk Lodge and smoke and read the supervisor's London and Paris weeklies and recover my tone."

Redfield smiled. "When I get weak-kneed or careless in the service and feel my self respect slipping away I go up to Ross' cabin and talk with a man who represents the impersonal, even handed justice of the federal law."

Cavanagh laughed. "There! Having handed each other reciprocal bouquets, we can now tell Miss Wetherford the truth. Each of us thinks very well of himself, and we're both believers in the new west."

"What do you mean by the new west?" asked the girl.

"Well, the work you've been doing here this morning is part of it," answered Redfield. "It's a kind of housecleaning. The old west was picturesque and in a way manly and energetic phases of it were heroic—and I hate to see it all pass, but some of us began to realize that it was not all poetry. The plain truth is my companion for over twenty years were lawless Indians, and the cattle business as we practiced it in those days was founded on selfishness and defended at the mouth of the pistol. We were all pensioners on Uncle Sam and fighting to keep the other fellow off from having a share of his bounty. It was all wasteful, half savage. We didn't want settlement; we didn't want law; we didn't want a state. We wanted free range. We were a line of pirates from beginning to end, and we're not wholly reformed yet."

Some one at the table accused Redfield of being more of a town site boomer than a cattleman.

He was quite unmoved by this charge. "The town site boomer at least believes in progress. He does not go so far as to shut out settlement. I don't care to have my children live the life I've lived. Besides, what right have we to stand in the way of a community's growth? Suppose the new life is less picturesque than the old. We don't like to leave behind us the pleasures and sports of boyhood, but we grow up nevertheless. I'm far more loyal to the state as forest supervisor than I was when I was riding with the cattlemen to scare up the nesters."

At this moment Sam Gregg entered the room, followed by a young man in an English riding suit. Seeing that "the star boarder table" offered a couple of seats, they pointed that way. Sam was plainly in a warlike frame of mind and slammed his sombrero on its nail with the action of a man beating an adversary.

"That is Sam Gregg and his son Joe. Used to be ranch cattlemen, now one of our biggest sheepmen," Cavanagh explained. "He's backing the cattlemen now."

Lee Virginia studied young Gregg with interest, for his dress was that of a man to whom money came easy, and his face was handsome, though rather fat and sullen. In truth, he had been brought into the room by his father to see "Lize Wetherford's girl," and his eyes at once sought and found her. A look of surprise and pleasure at once lit his face.

Gregg was the greedy west checked and restrained by the law. Every man in the room knew that he was a bitter opponent of the forest service and that he "had it in" for the ranger, and some of them knew that he was throwing more sheep into the forest than his permits allowed and that a clash with Redfield was sure to come. It was just like the burly old Irishman to go straight to the table where his adversary sat.

Virginia's eyes fell before the glare of these two men, for they had none of the shyness and none of the indirection of the ruder men she had met.

Redfield did not soften his words on Gregg's account. On the contrary, he made them still more cutting and to the line.

"The mere fact that I live near the open range or a national forest does not give me any rights in the range or forest," he was saying as Gregg took his seat. "I enjoy the privilege of these government grazing grounds, and I ought to be perfectly willing to pay the fee. These forests are the property of the whole nation. They are public lands and should yield a revenue to the whole nation. It is silly to expect the government to go on enriching a few of us stockmen at the expense of others. I see this, and I accept the change."

"After you've got rich at it," said Gregg.

"Well, haven't you?" retorted Redfield. "Are you so greedy that nothing will stop you?"

Gregg growled out: "I'm not letting any of my rights slip. I'll have your head, Mr. Supervisor. I'll carry my fight to the secretary."

"Very well," returned Redfield. "Carry it to the president if you wish. I simply repeat that your sheep must correspond to your permit, and if you don't send up and remove the extra number I will do it myself. I don't make the rules of the department. My job is to carry them out."

By this time every person in the room was tense with interest. They all knew Gregg and his imperious methods. Some of the cattlemen in the room had suffered from his greed, and while they were not partisans of the supervisor, they were glad to see him face his opponent fearlessly.

Lize delivered a parting blow: "Bull-frog, you and me are old timers. We're on the losing side. We belong to the 'good old days' when the Fork was a 'man's town' and to be 'shot up' once a week kept us in news. But then times are past. You can't run the range that way any more. Why, man, you'll have to buy and fence your own pasture in a few years more or else pay rent same as I do. You stockmen kick like steers over paying a few old cents a head for five months' range; you'll be mighty glad to pay a dollar one of these days. Take your medicine—that's my advice." And she went back to her cash drawer.

Redfield's voice was cuttingly contemptuous as he said quite calmly: "You're all kinds of asses, you sheepmen. You ought to pay the fee for your cattle with secret joy. So long as you can get your stock pastured (and in effect guarded) by the government from June to November for 20 cents or even 50 cents per head you're in luck. Mrs. Wetherford is right. We've all been educated in a bad school. Uncle Sam has been too lazy to keep any supervision over his public lands. He's permitted us grass pirates to fight and lynch and burn one another on the high range to which neither of us had any rights, holding back the real user of the land—the farmer."

Gregg was silenced, but not convinced. "It's a long lane that has no turn," he burst out. "You think you're the whole United States army! Who gives you all the authority?"

"Congress and the president."

"There's nothing in that bill to warrant these petty tyrannies of yours."

"What you call tyrannies I call defending the public domain," replied Redfield. "If I had my way I'd give rangers the power of the Canadian mounted police. Is there any other state in this nation where the routing of sheep herders and the wholesale butchery of sheep would be permitted? From the very first the public lands of this state have been a refuge for the criminal, a lawless no man's land, but now, thanks to Roosevelt and the chief forester, we at least have a force of men on the spot to see that some semblance of law and order is maintained. You fellows may protest and run to Washington, and you may send your paid representatives there, but you're sure to lose. As free range monopolists you are cumberers of the earth, and all you represent must pass before this state can be anything but the byword it now is."

The whole dining room was still as a church, and Lee Virginia, with a rare value comprehension of the man's words, apprehended in Redfield's speech a large and daring purpose.

Gregg sneered. "Perhaps you intend to run for congress on that line of talk."

Redfield's voice was placid. "At any rate, I intend to represent the policy that will change this state from the sparsely settled battleground of a lot of mounted hoboes to a state with an honorable place among the other commonwealths. If this be treason make the most of it."

Cavanagh was disturbed, for, while he felt the truth of his chief's words, he was in doubt as to the policy of uttering them. He rose. "I must be going," he said, with a smile.

Again the pang of loss touched her heart. "When will you come again?" she asked in a low voice.

"It is hard to say. A ranger's place is in the forest. I am very seldom in town. Just now the danger of fires is great, and I am very uneasy. I may not be down again for a month."

The table was empty now, and they were standing in comparative isolation, looking into each other's eyes in silence. At last she murmured: "You've helped me. I'm going to stay a little while anyway and do what I can."

"I'm sorry I can't be of actual service, but I am a soldier with a work to do. Even if I were here I could not help you as regards the townspeople. They all hate me quite cordially, but Redfield, and especially Mrs. Redfield, can be of greater aid and comfort. He's quite often here, and when you are lonely and discouraged let him take you up to Elk Lodge."

He extended his hand, and as she took it he thrilled to the soft strength of it. "Till next time," he said, "good luck."

NOTICE.

A remedy for doubts, fears and backslidings. Quit your meanness, be honest, read your Bible, pray much and the pastor will not have to send off for tracts for you to read, and let the pastor take Paul's advice in second Cor. 7:1. Having therefore these promises dearly beloved, let us clean ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit. Perfecting holiness in the fear of God and then preach the word as Paul said to Timothy and quit drawing on your imaginations because all intelligent Bible readers know that there was no blood on the door posts when the people did not believe God's word, the blood was just a sign to the Angel that they did believe God's word and had done as he had commanded to do. So in the place of spending money for tracts that would mislead souls, he had better re-haul his creeds and put up the gaps in it and urge those doubters to do as David did. Pray to be restored again. This I think is common sense and Bible doctrine.

Madison County Girl Comes Home

Minus Husband And Money

Richmond, Ky., March 1.—Mrs. Arthur Goebel, who a few weeks ago was Miss Mollie Milton, returned to the home of her father to-day, having heard nothing of her husband, being short $500 which, she says, he took when he left for parts unknown to her. Miss Milton married Arthur Goebel, a piano tuner of Lexington, a few weeks ago after a very short acquaintance and went with her husband to Lexington to make their future home.

Only a few days afterward the husband, she says, borrowed $500 from his wife to make a business trip to Cincinnati. He has not since been heard from. Her father is Shelby Million, a well-to-do farmer of near Newby, this county, where she has returned.

A Trip To Pine Knob.

A Ramble.—On last Saturday we decided to take a trip to the old noted "Pine Knob." Perhaps this is one of the highest points in east Crittenden, and from this high summit we could take a view of the surrounding country.

We left our "shack" at 9 a. m., and after several miles of travel across the level stretches of a smiling country, dotted here and there, with red roofs of houses. Here is a site of an old watermill, then an imitation of an island, a canal, a strait and there an isthmus. Then there forests, among the trees were the early bird, the blue and the jay, were singing their sweet melody all indicating life and activity.

But now we have reached the margin of the foot hills of Pine Knob and we commenced their ascent. up we went, over logs, rocks, rush and boulders of every kind and description, and last climbing step by step, we reached hanging rock the top most crest.

So like Christ at the well being wearied with our journey, we sat down and this thought came to our mind, "In this life we are making a journey."

And there are many that have reached the top round, and many others that are traveling the downward slope and are very near the end of their journey.

Becoming wearied, then is a journey of labor and self denial.

It is good for us sometimes to stop and think of God's goodness.

We are inviting others to go with us. By our influence.

By personal appeal.

By gospel appeal and right living.

There are obstacles in the way and to surmount these, we will need your help, your prayers and sympathy. We do not live alone. Lend a hand to one another. Then as we go along we should bear the almonition. Brethren, love one another. Our influence lives on after death—God loses no force.

This is a journey of life and we are making it by faith. Then be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee a crown of life. Rev. 2: 10.

Then we heard the echo, "arise and go," then with our face toward the setting sun, we retraced our steps homeward, meditating upon God, love and forbearance. J. B. M.

STORMS.

by MRS. IDA MAY ROBERTS.

I stand amid the storms of life Unmoved by tempest shock. I safely hide—my feet abide, On Christ the solid Rock.

When young, the storms began to beat On my defenceless head, At mercy's call, I gave up all And to this refuge fled.

I built on this foundation true, The winds may howl around, I have a sweet, safe retreat, That no where else is found,

Though storms grow fiercer, wilder still And vainly strive to shade, My refuge sure, will prove secure, For God will not forsake.

My Father rules, then I can sing,

And smile at fiercest blast Let tempests roar, they will soon be o'er I'll reach my home at last. At times when everything seemed lost, The waves rolled mountain high, My Lord appeared, His voice I heard, "Be not afraid 'tis I." All things are working for my good I have made God my stay, I lean for rest, upon His breast, Whom winds and waves obey. The last great storm is yet to come, Supreme and final test, But then I'll find, all powers combined Can not disturb my rest.
